McGill Radio Time Cancelled by CJAD

Radio activities on the campus ceased to function over the week-end as CJAD announced that all McGill programs were "indefinitely cancelled due to dissension in McGill ranks."

Two members of the newly formed Radio Committee and the entire executive of the Radio Workshop yesterday announced their resignations to the Daily. These were: Leonard Ashley and Stan Mann of the Radio Committee; and Irwin Brodie, Leonard Ashley, Stan Mann, Irving "Ross" Simms, Estelle Mendelsohn, Hugh Taschereau and Milton Winston of the Radio Workshop.

Late last night, after discussion with Colin McCallum, president of the Students Society, Leonard Ashley and Irving Simms declared they would not resign until the situation was further clarified. Ashley and Simms felt that there had been some misrepresentation of the whole situation before the talk with McCallum. Others who had announced their resignations were not present at the consultation with McCallum and were not available for comment before press time.

S.E.C. Action
Colin McCallum gave the following statement to The Daily: "On receipt of the complaint by the Debating Union Society that the Radio Committee had taken over a broadcast which the Debating Union Society claims to have originated, without consulting or informing the Debating Union Society, and a further complaint that the Radio Committee was not the impartial body 'for the control and regulation of all student broadcasting' as laid down in its constitution, the SEC listened to the president of the Debating Union Society and to the chairman of the Radio Committee when they presented their respective sides of the case at the last SEC meeting."

"Since after close examination of the situation it was found that three of the executive of the Radio Workshop were also on the executive of the Radio Committee, and further since the SEC has found no record of having approved the members of the Radio Committee, the SEC considered it to be in the best interests of the Students Society to appoint two students to the Radio Committee, leaving one member from the Radio Workshop to be appointed by the Workshop."

"Betty Sinclair was appointed SEC representative and Len Ashley, who has rendered invaluable service to the cause of radio at McGill, was requested to join the committee in an advisory capacity, since he is not a member of the Students Society."

"The Radio Workshop executive has lodged a complaint regarding the composition of the Radio Committee and will accordingly present their complaint at the next SEC meeting."

After a meeting of the newly-formed Radio Committee on Friday from which the press was excluded, Betty Sinclair issued the following statement:

"At a meeting of the Radio Committee this afternoon at five p.m. Arthur Garmaise was appointed chairman and Betty Sinclair was appointed secretary. The other members of the committee present were Boris Berbrier and Stanley Mann, as executive member of the McGill Radio Workshop. Also present was Leonard Ashley, the members in an advisory capacity."

"It was decided that Sunday's 'McGill Talks It Over' would be produced as scheduled by members of the McGill Radio Workshop; and that the McGill show on Tuesday would be similarly produced."

"A further meeting will be held on Monday to discuss radio times and programs for the coming year. Applications for radio times are welcome from all campus organizations."

The latter part of this statement was made without knowledge of CJAD's later cancellation of all radio time.

Ballon's Statement
Jon Ballon, president of the Debating Union Society, gave The Daily the following statement:

"It is felt that certain highly relevant facts which were omitted from Mr. Ashley's statement regarding the S.E.C. investigation of the McGill Radio Committee must be presented in order that the student body may be able to consider this situation in its proper perspective."

"The McGill Debating Union Society last year introduced to CJAD and to the McGill Campus the Faculty-Student Forums. These programs were very well received by the student body and also, so we were told, by the radio station."

ALEX LAWSON (53), a Varsity end, has just caught one of Dick Brown's passes for a first down late in the game. Two McGill players, Carl Totzke (80) in the background, the other two at the right unidentified, are closing in for the tackle. Lawson caught most of the 12 passes Toronto completed.

C.B.C. to Dramatize Newcomers' Problems

A new series of radio broadcasts entitled "In Search of Citizens" and dealing with the problems of New Canadians has been announced by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. These broadcasts will be on the air from 8.00 to 8.30 p.m. EST, commencing on Tuesday, November 15th and ending on January 10th.

This program attempts to present in dramatized form the many special difficulties which face newcomers on their way to becoming active and equal citizens of this land. There is much that Canadians can do to help newcomers become worthwhile and constructive members of the Canadian family. The development of mutual understanding will be a major purpose of the broadcasts.

Many favourable comments were received regarding the presentation last year and the series was given a Special Award in the First Canadian Radio Awards Competition.

Door Prizes To Be Featured At Annual ACS Formal Ball

A novel feature of this year's ACS Ball, which is being held on Friday, October 28th, is the introduction of door prizes. These have been away at other previous McGill dances, but it will be the first time they have been presented at the ACS.

Winners of the prizes will be determined by the drawing of ticket stubs, announced Dick Messier, President of Arts & Science. As couples enter the Gym, one half of their tickets will be retained in a large bowl, while they keep the other half. This latter point is of utmost importance, as of course no prize will be awarded to a student who has lost his stub.

During the first intermission of the ball four ticket stubs will be drawn from the bowl and the winning numbers announced. In order to insure fair play in the drawing a well known campus personality will be on hand to pick out the four winning stubs. His name will be released at some future date.

Doug Campbell is at present in search of prizes. It is hoped that these will be donated by prominent Montreal stores or firms. If not, the prizes will be purchased by the dance committee.

Tickets will go on sale Wednesday, 19 in several buildings on the campus, including the McGill Union and the Arts Building. Arrangements for table reservations will be announced later.

The committee still declines to announce the name of the prominent entertainer who will be featured along with the bands of Johnny Holmes and the Westernaires. The announcement is expected Wednesday.

Last night a buffet supper sponsored by the Freshette Reception Committee, was held at the R.V.C. Assembly Hall, at which the Freshies were given the chance of meeting their professors. The supper commenced at 6.00 p.m. after which those present grouped themselves around the professors for informal discussions.

At approximately 6.45 p.m., the students were ushered into the Drawing room where they spent the rest of the evening singing.

Les Amis de l'Art Offer Wide Program
"To employ intelligently the hours of leisure and to enrich the lives of our youth," is the aim of the Les Amis de l'Art and this coming year they are living up to their motto by making accessible to their members a diversified and interesting program. For those who are unfamiliar with the Les Amis de l'Art, a word of explanation is perhaps necessary. Les Amis de l'Art is an association for the promotion of art in all its forms and for the advancement of artistic culture. Membership is open to anyone between the ages of seven and twenty-one. A student may become a member upon the presentation of a small annual fee of twenty-five cents and a passport photo. He is then entitled to attend concerts, recitals and theatrical events at reduced rates. These include ballet, Les Concerts Symphoniques, operas, operettas and the ever popular Ice Follies, Aqua Parade, etc. In addition, there are contests in music and playwriting, courses in painting and public speaking. Free passes to museums, art galleries and exhibitions are issued and arrangements are made for auditions of young talent and scholarships.

For those wishing information concerning membership and subsequent events they may call FR. 1119.

Toronto Debaters Tour U.S. Colleges

Toronto — (CUP) — Debating teams from the University of Toronto will go on a tour to several American universities during the last part of the 1949-50 session according to a news release from the U. of T. Debating Union. Expenses of the trip will be borne by the Every student has an equal chance to participate in the tour.

Chairman Monica Huribut is looking for two or three co-eds to serve on the committee, and also for volunteers, who will give a certain amount of time per week to this very worthwhile project. More information will be published later this week in the Daily. Meanwhile, those interested can phone Monica at WA. 1630, or sign up on the list in the basement of A.V.C.

Arts & Science Relist Nomination Procedure

An error in the election advertisement in yesterday's Daily was announced last night by the executive of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society.

The nomination lists for the positions of class executives and recording secretary will close on noon Oct. 19 instead of noon Oct. 15 and the elections will take place on Oct. 26.

The vice president and secretary of each class executive are to be female and the president and treasurer are to be male.

The recording secretary of the undergraduate society is to be a female, second year student.

Two Concert Series Have Reduced Rates

The Concert management Geo. A. Robert has once again agreed to permit a price reduction to McGill students. The first of these concerts at reduced rates is the All Chopin recital being given at the Ritz-Carlton this evening by Anabelle Kitain. Student tickets at half price will be available through the Tuck Shop before 12 noon. The concert is being given in commemoration today of the 100th anniversary of the death of Frederic Chopin. Prices are $1.50; $1.25; $1.00. Another presentation for which McGill students will be given special consideration is the series of six concerts by the Loewenguth Quartet of Paris at which all of Beethoven's 17 String Quartets will be performed. These concerts will be held at the Theatre Les Compagnons, which can be easily reached by Sherbrooke Busses, on the 20, 22, 25, 26, 28, and 29th of this month. Tickets will be available through the Tuck Shop until this Wednesday at 12 noon. Prices are $6.00 and $4.00 for the series, a one-third reduction.

Pep Rally Held Team Cheered Dance Later

On Friday, Oct. 14, at 8.30 p.m., McGill students gathered at Dominion Square for their second football pep rally. The crowd of about 1,500, waving their home-made torches and singing the school songs, left the square and marched up Metcalfe to the campus.

There Bill Nichols, the M.C., introduced the members of the team individually to the students, after which Rocky Robillard, the team captain, and Vic Obeck addressed the crowd. Mr. Obeck stated, "It's easy for Toronto and Western to stage football rallies, seeing that between them they have held the football championships for the past few years while McGill hasn't won one for eleven years. However," he concluded, "this year's team has good material and the future looks promising."

After a brief fireworks display, the crowd left the campus for the Currie gymnasium where a dance was being held. The dance was continuously interrupted as the footballers of both the McGill and Varsity teams broke out with their respective school cheers.

At 11.15 p.m., a huge conga line was formed from the gym to Windsor station to meet the train from Toronto carrying the Varsity team.

University Reserve Flight Now Accepting Recruits

Dr. C. D. Solin, Assistant Dean of Arts and Science and Officer Commanding the McGill University Reserve Flight of the RCAF, announced today that students who are interested in joining this organization may apply for membership at the Flight Headquarters, Office No. 18 in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. Interviews will be carried out and applications received commencing Monday, Oct. 17th.

The Flight, which was organized on the campus less than a year ago, has proven to be extremely successful. The members of the Reserve Flight, all of whom hold the commissioned rank of Flight Cadet, spent the summer employed on various Air Force units throughout Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes. Dr. Solin and the RCAF Liaison Officer, Flight-Lieutenant S. Mitchell visited these Stations during the course of the summer and found that the overall picture was one of profitable and useful employment. Several Cadets flew to Goose Bay, Labrador for a brief visit while Bob Palette, B.Sc. III, spent most of the summer on the west coast carrying out research work in connection with the Medical Branch of the RCAF.

Dr. Solin also wishes to announce that a number of those who join the Flight this Fall will be selected for aircrew training in the Pilot, Radio or Navigation Branches. This training is covered in three consecutive summers at the end of which the Flight Cadets receive their wings.

Dawson College students who are interested in securing further information concerning the University Flight are advised that Dr. Solin and F/L Mitchell will be available on Tuesday evening at 8.30 p.m. in Room 25 of Dawson Hall. Dawson students are asked to keep this date open as this will be the only opportunity apart from personal interviews when the organization and plans of the Flight will be answered.

"This is an exceptionally fine opportunity for undergraduates who wish profitable and interesting employment with the RCAF during their curricular years — arrange for an early interview at the Flight Headquarters or call BE419 1932."

By MARCEL BALTZAN
Displaying the most powerful line to be seen in the intercollegiate conference in over five years, Coach Vic Obeck's Redmen went on to decisively defeat an outclassed Varsity 12 by a 22-13 score at Molson Field on Saturday. The McGill squad thrilled an amazed and over capacity crowd of around 19,000 with a terrific display of precision football.

Obeck's beautifully coached crew outplayed Masterson's astonished Varsity squad in every department except passing. And it wasn't necessary to outgun Varsity there. The Redmen didn't have to take to the air. They rolled up the impressive total of 416 yards on the ground to the Blues aggregate of 62.

The big McGill line, featuring eight men close to or over 200 pounds played the heroic role of the afternoon. Defensively most of them spend almost the entire afternoon in the Blues backfield, swarming over the Varsity backs to prevent them from getting Masterson's intricate, slow-moving plays into action. Bill Danylichuk was the only one of Toronto's pride and joys who could get anywhere against the Red line. He carried the ball a couple of times for gains of 15 and 20 yards.

On the attack, the McGill front wall carried out their blocking assignments to perfection as the best plunging corps in the league, consisting of Valois, Rodgers, Wagner and Stanley, hammered through the middle of a Varsity line that at times consisted of five men for long gains. Wagner pulled the picture play of the afternoon as he took a hand-off from Shorty Fairhead and went 48 yards for a touchdown, to demolish Varsity's short third quarter lead.

ROBINSON GOES WELL
Other than the impressive list of plungers, Shorty Fairhead, a second-string quarter, and Pete Robinson a speedy half were the pick of the McGill backs. Fairhead's years of dogged determination and hard practice came to their culmination Saturday. Shorty played the game of his career. He outguessed Varsity time and again with a masterful job of signal calling and deceptive hand-offs. In addition he played his usually fine defensive game.

Robinson also came into his own in the second half. He ripped around the Blues ends for several long gains in the second half before he got off on his play of the afternoon. McGill took over from Varsity on downs on their own 25. Fairhead handed the ball to Robinson who went around his own left end for a gain of 60 yards. He had apparently outdistanced all the Varsity backs and was on his way for a touchdown, when a Blue lunged at him from behind, slid on his belly and grabbed one of Robinson's legs with his hand.

Dick Brown and Bill Danylichuk were the pick of the Blues backs. Brown came in in the third quarter when Cummings was hurt and proceeded to outshine the master. Lawson and Gray led the Varsity line, Lawson caught most of the passes that were completed against McGill's vastly improved pass defence, while Gray was the Blues' main defensive threat.

FIRST HALF
Robillard kicked off to Toronto and the ball was brought to rest on the Varsity 16. The Blues lost two yards on the first down, and Cummings was smothered on the second as he attempted to pass. Varsity kicked and McGill recovered for a first down on the Blues 48. The first McGill play was nullified by an offside and Robillard quick kicked a single to give McGill an early 1-0 lead.

Varsity took over on their own 25, but a fumble recovered by McGill gave the Redmen the ball. Valois plunged to the Varsity 14. Irving pulled the most spectacular play of the afternoon. He faked to two McGill backs, tucked the ball behind his back and darted un-molested around the left end to cross the Varsity line standing up. The play was nullified, however. (Continued on Page 4)

Attention all you career-conscious co-eds. We were recently notified that MADEMOISELLE magazine is again featuring their annual College Board competition. The purpose is "to find twenty talented young women who can spend the month of June in New York editing and writing the MADEMOISELLE College issue."

Any girl interested in the fields of fashion, art, writing, merchandizing, or publishing is invited to send in her application. This must be in the form of a trial report consisting of about two type-written double-spaced pages on any new phase of McGill's campus life. The topic choice is your own—for suggestions you might write on a new academic course, a fashion, a fad (how about Wiggies?), a college activity, organization, trend, or tradition.

You must also send a snapshot of yourself and complete information on your college and home addresses, courses and year, interests and jobs.

All applications must be in by November 1. Mail them to the College Board Editor, MADEMOISELLE, 122 East 42 St. New York, 17. If you are accepted, you then become a candidate for a guest editorship. For further particulars, write to the magazine, or look up the current issue in the R.V.C. lounge.

The two recently-vacated positions of members-at-large on the Women's Union have now been filled. Diana McNairn was elected by acclamation for third year Arts. There being no nominations from second year, Letitia Artola has agreed to accept the other position by appointment.

Diana, a Montreal girl, is well known around the campus for the excellent job she has done as chairman of this year's Freshette Reception Committee. Letty comes from Cuba. She is a member of the R.V.C. House Committee, and last year was very active in helping out with women's social events. We wish to welcome these two very able people to the executive.

Speaking of appointments, a new editor has been named for Miss McGill due to the resignation of Sue Edwards. She is Barbara Shapiro. Incidentally, we understand that, due to unforeseen difficulties, the first issue of the magazine will not be published until early in November.

The Social Service Committee, sponsored by the Women's Union, is now being organized for the year. Its purpose is to help out with the recreational activities of underprivileged children at settlement centres and convalescing children in hospitals. Any girls taking the course in Recreational Leadership, which is being sponsored by the M.W.S.A.A., would find this of great practical use.

Chairman Monica Huribut is looking for two or three co-eds to serve on the committee, and also for volunteers, who will give a certain amount of time per week to this very worthwhile project. More information will be published later this week in the Daily. Meanwhile, those interested can phone Monica at WA. 1630, or sign up on the list in the basement of A.V.C.

Nominations Close Oct. 19; Polling Oct. 26

One position on the executive of the Arts & Science Undergraduate Society and all positions on the class executives for all years are being contested in the forthcoming elections on Oct. 26th. Nominations for all these posts close one week previous to election day, Oct. 19th at noon.

WE WALLOPED VARSITY

It has been a long, long time. Not for ten years have McGill students had the thrill of watching the Redmen wallop Toronto Varsity. Coach Vic Obeck and thirty hard-driving Redmen are to be congratulated on a fine victory. They whipped not only the Varsity Blues but also McGill campus defeatist blues which tended to make pep rallies of recent years seem like whistling by a graveyard.

The pep rally of Friday night indicated a better spirit on the campus than has been shown for some time and by the time the opening whistle blew there was a feeling of victory in the stands. When the tumult and the shouting dies, it's important to reflect upon the necessity of winning gracefully. The Redmen are away to a fine start but they have some tough slugging ahead of them. When all the analyzing of the game, the replays in the coffee shops, and the congratulations die down there'll still be a need for plenty of moral support.

We don't think much of excuses and we think less of the type of cartooning outside of Montreal which is so drawn that the Redmen are ridiculed — win or lose. The game is more important than that. The spirit of team and student body alike will be long remembered by all who attend intercollegiate games. The critics with their pat excuses will be soon forgotten. — C. K.

Class Pins

Editor, The Daily:
 Through the medium of this column I wish to inform the members of the Class of 1949 of The Arts & Science Undergraduate Society that their Class Pins will be mailed to them from the manufacturers within the next week.

Due to no fault of the Society and its executive of last year the pins and rings were dreadfully delayed in the making. The contract was made with Farnsworth & Gales Jewellers, but because of manufacturing difficulties the company was unable to fulfill it until this late date.

Wishing to atone for the delay the company has graciously undertaken to mail each individual his or her order to their respective addresses, at which they were living last year.

Any one who has changed addresses during the summer is asked to contact the company at 1445 Crescent St., H.A. 1640.

Both the company and the Arts & Science Executive Committee of 1949 deeply regret any inconvenience caused to any members of the Class of '49. Although the Society was to a certain extent responsible for the fulfillment of the orders, we were the unfortunate victims of circumstance at a time when there was no alternative course to take, but to put the responsibility on the company, which we are sure, will see that the delay will be cut short soon.

Sincerely,
LEONARD T. C. HARBOUR,
 Past President,
 Arts & Science Undergraduate Society.

Ants?

Editor, The Daily:
 Your editorial of recent date in which you referred to the rowdy Dawson students at the late and lamented Freshman Trials as "ants at a picnic" was undoubtedly a master-stroke in journalism. We feel relatively certain that as a result of this sly effort we will in future, (among other things) be considered as ants by the student body of urban (e) McGill. Fortunately, however, there are extenuating circumstances.

Planned activity, (consisting of the antics of "messers" Floyer and Crepeau) in behalf of the freshmen quartered at Dawson, was wondrously conspicuous by its non-existence. In retrospect, it is obvious that this was just another of McGill's frequent slights of Dawson — but for a while we ants thought it was everybody's picnic. (Signed) J. Douglas Duncan, B.Eng.; G. Matthias Koch, B.Eng.; J. Weldon Paton, B.Eng.; R. David Bourke, B.Arch.; J. D. McCall, B.Eng.; C. Athol London, B.Eng.; Michael L. Tucker, B.Eng.; P. M. Clarke, B.Eng.; Marty Collier, B.Eng.; David M. Johnson, B.Eng.; A. R. Macfarlane, B.Eng.

Editor's Note: In our editorial on the excellent job done by the McGill Freshman Reception Committee we referred to the Dawson invaders at the Freshman Trial as being "ants at a picnic." We think it was a gentle protest against the singing of obscene songs. The most ardent former Dawsonites now at McGill took exception to this. Having been at Dawson we realize there is a fine spirit there and we think anyone who hasn't had the experience of Dawson has missed a great deal. We understand that the freshman reception at Dawson was the responsibility of the Dawson S.E.C.

From Pakistan

Editor, The Daily:
 Your article about the Student Counsellor in today's Daily (12th Oct.) gives me an opportunity to pay tribute to Mr. Clifford Knowles.

As a student at McGill from the distant land of Pakistan (13,000 miles) I have found in Mr. Knowles not only a counsellor but a father and an elder brother, and it is many a time that I have enjoyed the hospitality of his home at Dawson.

I am glad to have come to McGill and to have met people like Mr. E. C. Knowles; and although I have very little hope of repaying the kindness, the doors of Pakistan shall be open to any Canadian who might one day wander that far, and more so for the student counsellor of McGill University. Nehru Visit

Plans are being made for a reception at McGill for Indian Prime Minister Pandit Nehru who is at present on a goodwill visit of the North American continent. Included in his schedule is a visit of Montreal on October 24th.

Indian students, with the aid of some of the members of the teaching staff, are arranging the McGill visit. For that day a colourful and interesting program is being planned. The Indian co-eds will wear native Hindu costumes, and the men the traditional Turban. Indian dances and music will also be presented.

Prime Minister Nehru, a disciple of Mahatma Gandhi, is a graduate of Cambridge University. He will be only one of the many of his contemporaries who have recently visited McGill.

OUR GINKGO TREES

James McGill's Is a She

by SEAMUS

Did you know that we of McGill among the high officials of the country, who were ever in danger of incurring the King's wrath and "losing their heads", self-administered poison being generally preferred to the cool edge of the official Axe.

The Ginkgo grows slowly, but it is of such longevity that it may reach heights up to 120 feet. It is of conical shape with long horizontal branches. The leaves are fan-shaped and marked with longitudinal veins resembling the Maidenhair Fern, hence the popular appellation "Maidenhair Tree."

The reproductive morphology differs only in minor details from that of the cycads. The pollen is borne in microsporophylls. Each sporophyll bears a pair of deflexed sporangia.

Luckily, at this point, a kind-hearted member of the Botany department rescued your unhappy scribe from the morass of encyclopedic information and explained in language that even an Artsman could understand. The Ginkgo is unique in that there are both male and female trees. The seed of the male must fertilize that of the female before reproduction can take place. The seeds grow on the tree like small plums, smell slightly of rancid butter, and contain a hard kernel, edible when roasted.

Contrary to popular opinion, there are six Ginkgos on the campus, one above the cyclotron building and four on McTavish beside the tennis courts in addition to the one in front of the Arts Building. She (it is a female) is by far the senior, having been here longer than the oldest faculty member. (There appears to be little truth in the story that seven freshmen were once hung from the Ginkgo Tree for insubordination to upper classmen, pour decourager les autres.)

So, next time you pass the Ginkgo, have a look at her who can trace ancestry back to 300 million B.C. and ponder, ever so slightly, on your own insignificance.

At a meeting of representatives of local theatrical groups in M.R.T.'s Guy street playhouse on Sept. 27, the Western Drama League officially came into being.

All active theatre groups in Western Quebec producing English plays are eligible for group membership, and information on theatrical subjects will be circulated to all members. Any person interested in the theatre arts, whether associated with a little theatre group or not, may become a member of the League. Applicants will receive membership cards on payment of a dollar initiation fee and annual dues of one dollar. Remittances may be sent to Marie Brewar, 1208 Seymour avenue, Montreal.

The first of a series of monthly meetings will be held during the second week of November, and will feature speakers of international repute, round table discussions, etc. There will also be an advisory service for members seeking aid in matters of production, playwriting, and management.

The aim of the Quebec Drama League is to encourage, and promote all the arts and crafts of the theatre, and to correlate activities of organizations and individuals interested in theatre throughout Western Quebec.

Musically Speaking

by Sabine

In this our first column we take over a spot that has been held regularly by the same correspondent during the past three years. While we may not have had the same experience as our predecessor, we shall endeavour to maintain a high standard of criticism.

But first a few introductory remarks that will undoubtedly bore the reader (the singular is used here advisedly) and will be somewhat in the nature of a confession.

1) Let it be clear that the use of "we" is not intended to suggest collaborators but is merely invoking the "editorial we."

2) We shall endeavour to crystallize the nebulous cerebrations of our predecessor. It was obvious to his readers if not to himself that his intent was to differentiate between the true professional and the amateur. (Shades of the athletic leagues). The fundamental distinction is true in all the arts.

The amateur begins with his talents and strives to attain some semblance of technical perfection while for the professional it is the other end of the stick. He begins with his strong technical foundation and works from there towards the artistic expression of his métier.

For us both extremes are equally dull, but at least the professional, while he may not be an artist, is an artisan.

3) So help us, we shall endeavour to avoid as much as is humanly possible the expression in print of arbitrary personal prejudices. A classic example of this appeared in a recent English publication in which Ralph Hill, a supposedly re-

With elections a current topic at McGill it is interesting to see whether a small number of people is able to run an electoral system to more purpose than a large modern state.

But when students do not know one another the advantage over a state is largely lost; the university remains as heterogeneous as the state. And even if hazing does help freshmen get acquainted at all, it probably has not helped enough to give them an idea of whom to elect as officials of the various societies.

Yet elections cannot wait forever; should we simply give up the idea of having the freshman vote intelligently, or is some compromise possible? Our readers, as potential voters, are perhaps the best ones to suggest ideas.

Freshmen usually like to put forth their points of view, and upperclassmen too, if they can remember far back enough, can tell us what they thought, and now think in the light of their experience.

Varsity Rugby Crew Gains Lead in Intercollegiate Series

On Friday in a hard fought game, the McGill rugby team went down to an 11-5 defeat at the hands of the U. of T. This was the first game of a home and away intercollegiate series with Toronto, so the Red fifteen will have a chance to recoup their losses if they can down the Blues on their own grounds on November 4th.

G. GLEN STARS
McGill's offensive play in the first ten minutes crowded the Blues back on their own line and the Redmen were given a chance to score with a penalty kick. The kick was missed however, and ensuing fumble by the McGill backs took Toronto to centre field. On their next rush, Toronto fed the ball out from a loose scrum to Don Glen their Captain, who converted a field goal from the forty-five yard line to bring the score to 3-0 for the Blues.

In an attempt to take the play back into Toronto territory a penalty was awarded against a McGill player for being offside. Another superb kick by Don Glen hit the score to 6-0 for U. of T. The end of the half round the Redmen pressing the Blues back within their own twenty-five yard line, which showed there was still plenty of chance to even up the score in the second half.

The second half opened with an attack by Toronto which took them right up to the McGill line where they attempted to wheel the scrum and take the ball over for a try. But smart work on the part of McGill's fullback, Gordon MacPherson, broke up the play and gave McGill the chance to get away from their threatened line.

An aggressive forward rush by the Redmen took the ball up to the Toronto twenty-five yard line where a penalty was awarded against the Blues. The attempt to convert was missed, and for the next few minutes play swung to and fro in centre field. The next Toronto drive was broken up by Tom Bishop who made a clever break and a kick from a line-out.

Shortly after this, the Toronto backs got under way and Jim Miles completed the play by running the ball behind the goal posts for a try. Once again Don Glen made good his kick.

RAMSAY CONNECTS
With the score standing at 11 nil and only a few minutes left in the game, McGill made a renewed effort which was rewarded by a try, when Alistair Ramsay took the ball over the Toronto line after a fifty yard run. Dave Foyer converted for McGill thus leaving the final score at U. of T. 11 McGill 5.

Blues Shine Blast McGill 4-1 In Soccer

By NORMAN ENDLER
The Toronto Varsity Soccer eleven defeated the McGill team by a score of 4-1 Friday afternoon at the Upper Stadium. The Blues rang rings around the Red squad with their superior speed and short passes.

Toronto lost no time in getting into the scoring column as Antoni scored on Kuchkuda's rebound early in the game. A few minutes later Varsity increased their lead when Barton drove the ball behind Fainstat on a four way passing play with Allan, Wyler and Antoni. Antoni, who played an outstanding game, then put Kuchkuda in the clear and he made no mistake when he drove a bullet shot past Fainstat. The half time score was 3-0 for Toronto.

McGill started pressing in the second half but there was no co-ordination between the halves and the forwards. Time and time again Taylor of McGill would fire the ball up to his forwards but once inside scoring territory they became disorganized and could not put the ball in the goal.

At times the halves would kick the ball over our forwards heads and thus they would lose possession of the ball. Fainstat, the goalie, and Taylor, who scored McGill's only goal at the half-way mark on the penalty shot, were the stars on the Red eleven. Toronto finished up the scoring when Wyler blasted home a 25-foot kick.

CHAMPIONSHIP BOUND

Many inquiring reporters have ventured forth and asked Vic Obeck exactly what chances he thought his team had of winning a rather ancient piece of some ancient silversmith's handy work, the Yates Trophy, which bears the inscription "Senior Inter-collegiate Football Champions." To all these the appropriately titled Red Mastermind has only one answer, "We're still one year away." We wish to register a disagreement with Mr. Obeck on this one.

We don't claim emphatically and dogmatically that McGill will win the championship this year, but rather prefer to say that of the four teams in the league the one bearing Red and White colors has the best chance. Their performance on Saturday wasn't a one day highly inspired job similar to last year's team in its first game with Western.

We aren't alone in this opinion. Last night a Daily scribe out assiduously patrolling his beat encountered an assistant Varsity coach and several of his stars in a downtown restaurant. The Daily man talked with them and they permitted him to report the gist of their statements. They said, "McGill has the best team in the league this year due to its outstanding line. That line can break up any passing attack. McGill deserves to win the intercollegiate championship."

We have seen McGill play its four games this year, and in only one did the team lack the class of a championship bound crew. And that was in the first game of the season, an exhibition tilt with an intermediate team, Ottawa University. Since they won 25-0 and the game was the initial one of the season it is reasonably obvious that it didn't matter much.

In their second game the Redmen turned in an outstanding performance in holding one of the Canadian game's foremost teams, the Montreal Alouettes to a 10-1 victory. They lost their first intercollegiate game to Western by two points but most observers will agree that for most of the contest they were by far the superior team on the field. Obeck's crew easily turned in just as polished a performance, if not more so against Western as they did against Toronto.

As paradoxical as it may seem, the most probable detriment to a McGill championship is Queen's. The Gaels were edged by a mere one point in their initial joust with Toronto, and on Saturday were beaten by one touchdown by Western. Press reports indicate that Jack Parry was up to his old tricks again in that victory. He started a last quarter series of desperation passes that paid off as they did one week earlier against McGill, with but one variation. Harry Wade was on the receiving end of the touchdown pass.

DISSECTION
A brief dissection will show why we think that the Redmen should at present rule as slim favorite for the intercollegiate title. They have by far and away the best, biggest and toughest line in the league. No other squad can boast eight men such as Sharp, Newman, Kowal, Capogreco, Whitman, Marshall, Melowitz and Malone who possess both weight and speed. All except Malone weight close to or are over two hundred pounds. Coupled with this they are probably the most deadly blockers in the league, nor can the linemen of Toronto and Western tackle with them.

McGill possesses a fine pair of starting ends in Caldwell and Mitchner. No Western end appears to be in the same class, although Toronto has a pair who rate. Alex Lawson, while no star on the defence has an uncanny knack of eluding complicated pass defences to haul down Cummings' and Brown's heaves. Jack Gray is a sound defensive end.

At present most of McGill's offensive power lies in a brigade of plungers who know no equal in Canadian intercollegiate football. George Valois, Terry Rodgers, Ken Wagner and Bob Stanley. In addition Obeck possesses two other players of outstanding calibre, Haskell Blauer and Ray Deshields.

The other boy, Deshields just turned out to practice the other day. He is a 200 pounder from Wayne University, Detroit (oh, where or where, Dr. Flanagan, Jack Parks, Jim Coleman et al, are the import charges, with amazing speed.

The threat of this department is easily demonstrated. During the second half Shorty Fairhead did most of the quarter-backing. Since Irving was on the bench this practically eliminated the threat of a McGill pass attack. Pete Robinson was off the field as well, removing the possibility of too many end runs. Toronto realized this and moved up into a nine man line to block the only play McGill end left, the center buck and off tackle plunge. But the plungers went ahead and did their duty. Toronto did no more than usual to deter them.

To round out the line-up we have Harry Irving, as fine a passer as there is in the intercollegiate league, Shorty Fairhead who blossomed into an outstanding quarter-back in the game, Pete Robinson, latest man in the league, Rocky Robillard whose equal as a kicker neither Toronto nor Western possess.

And culminating the whole situation we have an outstanding coach. Vic Obeck is to be congratulated on the job he has done. He has constructed a fine football machine out of seven players with senior experience and 17 intermediates.

But all this is far in the future. The season is young, and many unexpected things can happen. The schedule must be played game by game. We see the possibility of a championship but it is only a possibility. The important thing right now is that we play Queen's next week. They have a good club, with a fine backfield and genial old Al Lenard. At present the object is not the Yates Trophy but a victory over Queen's.

Tennis Players Entering Finals

This week-end almost saw a new intramural tennis champion named, since all but 3 participants have been eliminated and all but 2 matches in the tournament have been played. A semi-final remains which will see Dave Hackett battle Pete Walsh at 11:00 a.m., the winner of this match to play for the title against Jacques Tetrault at 4:00 p.m., Monday.

Tetrault steadily hit his way up to the finals by beating Larry Forbes 4-6, 6-3, 6-0 in the quarter-finals, and by going on to beat Dick Roper in the semi-finals 6-3, 3-6, 6-0. Pete Walsh trounced Charles Rally 6-1, 6-0 in the fourth round and then beat John Rowley 4-6, 6-1, 6-4, in the quarter-finals. In this same round, Dave Hackett placed his bid for the title by beating F. B. Trotter 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

The McGill Championship tournament which will commence on Tuesday, Oct. 18, will have the semi-finalists of the Intramural Tournament and the 4 men on the Intercollegiate team competing. These men are: Roper, Tetrault, Hackett, and Walsh, Intramural—and Cain, the Quain brothers, and G. Simpson of the Intercollegiate team.

Abramovitz Starts Training Hoop Squad

Tonight, Moe Abramovitz, McGill's new basketball coach is calling his first practice. The former 'Y' and Olympic coach would like to look over the material with which he will have to work this week. The practice time has been set for 8 p.m. tonight in the Sir Arthur Currie Gym.

He would like to see all members of last year's hoop squads both senior and intermediate, as well as any newcomers interested in playing for their alma mater.

When it is remembered the fine job Mr. Abramovitz did with the 'Y' squad bringing them from obscurity to the Dominion finals in a matter of a few years, McGill's future in the hoop game begins to look brighter already.

Devaux Is Undefeated, Varsity Comes Second

The Intercollegiate has been won by McGill's co-eds. The team went up to London at the end of last week and played Friday and Saturday. They lost two matches out of the twelve played during those two days. The victorious team had names that are not strange to most McGillians. June Devaux, Marg. Davidson and Gay Elkington as well as Shirley Ellicott, team manager, and the only new name on the list this year.

McGill only lost two games throughout the tourney, but Toronto was not far behind; they lost three games. The McGill girls who had to leave for home without even knowing who had won the meet, left Western playing Toronto. Western took that match, and so gave McGill the edge on points to bring her ahead. Last year was almost repeated, when McGill tied for top honours with Varsity.

Western played hosts over the week-end, and they placed third at the final scoring. The Western girls were followed by Queen's and McMaster in the last line-up.

June Devaux was McGill's star number one single's player. She decisively won all her matches with only one close scores in the eight matches. The Western girl lost 6-1, 6-2; Queen's got four games in the first set, one in the second; Toronto then came in to win one game in a set and then proceeded to tie up the next set, so that June had to work to take the 8-6 lead that gave her the match.

Shirley Ellicott was the second singles player for the red and white team, playing a strong offensive game that was the downfall of three of her four opponents. Shirley only lost to the Varsity team, the score in these sets being 6-4, 6-0. Toronto was also the only downfall of the doubles team. Marg Davidson and Gay Elkington teamed up very well to play right through Queen's, McMaster and Western. This doubles team displayed excellent net play, and the only match they dropped, the Toronto team had the same score of 6-0, 6-4.

RESULTS
1st Singles: McGill beat Western 6-1, 6-2, beat Queen's 6-4, 6-1, beat Toronto 6-1, 8-6, beat McMaster 6-0, 6-0. 2nd Singles: McGill beat Queen's 6-4, 6-2, Western 6-4, 6-2, McMaster 6-2, 6-3, and lost to Toronto 6-4, 6-0. Doubles: McGill beat Queen's 6-1, 6-3, McMaster 6-1, 6-2, Western 6-2, 6-3, and lost to Toronto, 6-0, 6-4.

For SEC Engineering Representative

Dave Floyer
PLATFORM

If elected to the Council, my term of office will be a short one and my duties as a council member will, in part at least, be of a general nature concerning the whole of The Students Society. As an engineer, however, it will always be my primary concern to see that my faculties' point of view is strongly and well represented and that the interests of The E.U.S. are looked after. In thinking of The E.U.S. I include all those engineers at Dawson. They will not be forgotten.

In taking over another man's job, I feel it would be out of place to promise an extensive program of improvement and reform. At all times I will do what the circumstances require and it will be with pride that I will represent the hardest working group at McGill.

Dave Floyer

PEN SKETCH

David Floyer was born in British Columbia and attended school in Vancouver until shortly before the war. When World War II broke out, David joined the British Army and served in the Far East with both the British and Indian Armies in Burma, Indo-China, the East Indies and later in the Central Mediterranean.

During his period in the services he was awarded the Military Cross was mentioned in despatches and became the youngest major in the Indian Army.

His activities at McGill began when he played with the Inter-collegiate championship soccer team while at Dawson. He then came to McGill to Captain its Rugby team to an Inter-collegiate championship and this year has become its Manager. In addition, he found time to direct the active functions of the Cosmo Club on the McGill campus as its President. At the close of last year, he was popularly nominated for the Presidency of the Students' Society and became a very close runner-up to Colin McCallum in the elections.

This year, David Floyer became the Chairman of the McGill Freshman Reception and directed one of the most active receptions that McGill has seen in a number of years. Under his supervision, the Reception formed a larger committee than before, totalling 100 students with the sub-committees, and directed a full program lasting over two and a half weeks.

In addition, David Floyer is directing Model Parliaments for the Debating Union Society and after Christmas will be the chairman for the Mount Royal events of the Winter Carnival.

As his term of office with the S.E.C. will only last until the middle of December, the need will be for someone who can bring sound judgment and wide campus experience to the Students' Council in assisting it in the management of student affairs and activities. David Floyer, by his past activities and proven ability, is a man whose qualifications completely fill these requirements.

putable critic, accused one of his colleagues of being prejudiced in the personal way. On the very page he himself writes, "I do not waste time... Elsewhere in this same volume this master egotist tells us that Myers' Handbook to Music contains "inaccurate, naive, misleading, ambiguous, and puerile statements" and censures the author for his "public display of musical ignorance and ill-digested knowledge." Heavens to Betsy! This is no mere pot!

Two recent musical evenings come to mind. In the first our own McGill String Quartet, whose members are all professional musicians but who together form an amateur quartet, presented a program of

PLATFORM

The McGill Union figures prominently on the Campus as the centre of activity and usual meeting place of students.

In order that the Union may continue to serve the general interest of the student body, I will, when elected Vice-president, do my utmost to improve the actual conditions in the Union.

The prime functions of the Vice-president are merely of an administrative nature, but, when elected, I will help the student body to take an effective part in Union affairs, pledge fullest support to the reasonable desires and suggestions of my fellow-students (lower cafeteria prices, ping-pong facilities, etc.) and promote and encourage the social and cultural life of the Union.

Lastly, may I express my sincerest thanks to all those who, in nominating me for the Vice-presidency, will signify their faith in my ability to efficiently carry out the duties of this office.

Georges Steiner

PEN SKETCH

The student body may consider itself very fortunate in having a man with the necessary background in international and human relations as candidate for the Vice-presidency of the Union.

Georges needs no introduction to the larger segment of the students here. His enthusiasm, infectious grin and ready ear lend themselves well to the guys and gals on the campus. It's good to know that in electing him to this office, he will be in immediate and personal touch with students and Union affairs.

And no newcomer Georges... he is a member of many important campus organizations such as the I.S.S., N.F.C.U.S., Red & White, Cosmo Club, Winter Carnival, a writer on the Daily... in close contact with all Student Government.

The Vice-President must be the trait-d'union between the Student Body and the Administration and the experience Georges has gained as a pioneer in international student relation and co-operation while at the University of Paris will be most valuable to all of us here at McGill when he is elected.

classical and romantic music. This group performs well known music with careful attention to details of form and with no pretense at technical perfection. (As it is they gave a really thrilling performance of Schubert's Trout Quintet with Messers. Schick and Hardy as guests).

However one wonders if the role of such a group should not be that of presenting new music to its listeners—music otherwise unavailable to the public—rather than the old staples, for now they invite comparison with familiar performances by professional quartets.

We should think that the sponsoring committee would insist on such programs, even though this would necessitate additional work and rehearsing on the part of the members of the quartet. Such evenings would be much more musically satisfying.

The other is a recent recital by a Canadian pianist. This young man presented an admirably prepared program but unfortunately he received press notices more enthusiastic than those given to such an established artist as Rubinstein. This sort of thing is unfair to both the artist and his public. We are quite sure that this young man, as fine as he is, realizes that he is not yet a finished artist, certainly not yet in the class of Rubinstein.

While this sort of thing obviously looks fine in a book of clippings, it will undoubtedly lead to the public demanding too much from the performer with inevitable disappointments. Perhaps a saner all-round approach would lead to less unhappiness.

For McGill Union Vice President

Boris Gardavsky
PLATFORM

1. A general improvement and cleanup of the Union for: a) Clean and neat rooms for Clubs & Societies. b) Better service to student functions. c) Better Reading Room to serve as a more comfortable lounge for the students.

2. Impartial allotment of Locations and Dates to Clubs and Societies through the Dates Committee.

3. Close co-operation with the Women's Union Committee who now have an interest in the McGill Union.

4. Full assistance with Dawson on events which they attend at the McGill Union in the way of arrangements, transportation, etc.

5. An enquiry into the price of coffee at the Union Grill Room and the other prices of food in general to see if any reductions may be obtained without incurring a loss.

In conclusion, since I become a member of the House Committee if elected, I pledge myself to the fullest co-operation with the other members as only in this way can any program be achieved.

Boris Gardavsky

PEN SKETCH

"Bo", as he is commonly called, began college at Dawson where he spent three years before coming to McGill into third year engineering. At Dawson, he was one of the most active members of the student body.

As Editor-in-Chief he showed a considerable amount of organizational ability in bringing the Dawson "Weekly" from an infant news bulletin to the status of a regular weekly newspaper and the most influential organ on the Dawson campus after he became its Editor.

In his position as Vice-President of the Dawson S.E.C. he was faced with the task, along with the other members of the Council, of repaying Dawson's $10,000 debt incurred by the Council the previous year and still provide the students with an active club and social program. He spurred activity on the campus by assisting in the reorganization of several clubs, by giving them the fullest co-operation through the Weekly with publicity, and through the Council in assisting active organizations with financial allotments and other means.

In addition he still found time to serve with the Freshman Reception at Dawson which prepared him for when he became the Assistant-Chairman of the McGill Freshman Reception this year. In this capacity, he deputized for David Floyer, the chairman, while David was away during the summer until September.

There is little doubt that these efforts have helped produce a Freshman Reception that has been the most successful in recent years. In particular, the experience that Bo obtained when he directed publicity and the seven dances for the Freshman Reception was invaluable in teaching him how McGill, in contrast to Dawson, operates.

In order to be Vice-President of the McGill Union, a man must be capable of organization, administrative experience, and the ability to get along with people. We, in our opinion, feel that Bo has it.

PLATFORM

The significant point about this election is the short term of office being contested. This limitation due to time severely restricts the work that can be attempted or done by the S.E.C. Engineering Representative.

For that reason I have selected three points which I consider important from the point of view of an engineer and of students as a whole.

The engineering representative should, in the two months of his office,

1. Work for concerted action by the engineers to improve opportunities for summer as well as permanent jobs. It is quite obvious that jobs have become harder to find in the past two years. To offset this, an organized effort on our part must be made at this time.

2. Sponsor the cause of government scholarships so that university courses will be available to a wide group of young people.

3. Continue the drive for an engineering common room so that commuting students in particular will benefit by its facilities. This will become more urgent when, in the near future, all courses are given at McGill.

The above points are offered with the understanding that they can be fulfilled only by working in full co-operation with the E.U.S. I intend if elected to work towards that end, and thus give the best service possible for the engineering body.

I wish to thank all those students who have supported my nomination and ask them to continue that support and their fine campaign work through to the election.

Eric A. Valere

PEN SKETCH

As a man who has shown deep interest in all campus affairs we believe Eric Valere to be an excellent candidate for the post of Engineering Representative to the S.E.C.

Eric hails from Trinidad where after graduating from St. Mary's College he served as radio operator on a U.S. Engineer Department supply ship travelling to the West Indies and South America.

He came up to join the Canadian Army in '42 and, after instructing for a year at Kingston, served in England, Italy and N.W. Europe.

After nine months at Khaki University in England he began his Engineering course at Dawson (activities—intramural basketball, floor hockey, Dawsigns and Vets' Society) and is now in Civil Eng. 4 on the Montreal campus.

Last year he debated against Toronto and successfully upheld the honor of McGill plumbers. At present he heads the McGill West Indian Society.

ends for quarter time. Brown then heaved another pass. Johnny Newman came charging in to make an outstanding interception but became confused as to directions and ran the ball to the McGill eight.

Robillard's punt was poor and Varsity gained possession on McGill 35. A Cummings to Lawson pass and another to Gray gave Varsity the TD. Cummings converted. McGill 7, Varsity 6. McGill received and went 67 yards on Fairhead's calls and Robinson and Wagner's running. Robillard got a field goal from the 25 to make the half-time score 10-6.

SECOND HALF
Varsity came to life in the second half and at first it looked as if this game was going to take the same course as last week's. They bottled the Redmen up inside their own end-zone for the first part of the third-quarter. They took the ball on the McGill 40. Danny-chuck ran for 13. Lawson caught a pass for another eight, then Danny-chuck caught another. London went over from the 3-yard line and Choreski converted. McGill 10, Varsity 12.

McGill receive the kick but got off to a bad start as the Red receiver fumbled and Toronto recovered. But the Blues were nailed for two

Ten Rhodes Scholarships Available For Canadians

Ten students from Canadian universities will be selected shortly after November 1 as Rhodes Scholars from Canada for 1950. Opening of the competition was announced Saturday by the Rhodes Scholarship Trust. Closing date for applications is November 1.

The scholarships are tenable at the University of Oxford with a basic annual value of £400 increased at present by temporary grants to £500 yearly. They are granted for two years with the possibility of a third year. Scholars may follow courses of study of their own choice and are required to go to Oxford in October 1950.

Conditions of eligibility are as follows: A candidate must be a male British subject with at least five years residence and with the intention of permanent residence in Canada. He must be unmarried. A Rhodes Scholarship is forfeited by marriage after election.

A candidate must have passed his 19th but not have passed his 25th birthday by October 1, 1950.

He must have completed two years at a university in Canada by Oct. 1, 1950.

A candidate must apply either for the province in which he has his private home or residence or for the province in which he has taken his university course. A resident of the North-West Territories will have only the latter alternative. A resident of Prince Edward Island will have the latter alternative unless his university course has been taken in Prince Edward Island in which case he will apply in either Nova Scotia or New Brunswick.

Selection is made on the basis of school and college records without written examinations.

Scholarships are allotted on this basis. Two to Ontario, two to Quebec and one each to Alberta, British Columbia, Manitoba, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Saskatchewan. Newfoundland awards a scholarship separately.

Application forms and full information may be obtained from university registrars, secretaries of provincial selection committees and from the general secretary of Rhodes Scholarships in Canada, Roland Michener, K.C., 5 Rosedale Road, Toronto 5, Ontario. J. S. Hodgson, 227 Lockhart Avenue, Town of Mount Royal, is secretary of the selection committee of the Province of Quebec.

"Stanley Mann, the representative from the Radio Workshop, and myself were informed that the Students Executive Council had decided to override the Constitution of the Radio Committee and appoint two members to the committee which the constitution explicitly states are to be elected. We were told by the SEC representative that the vote which the constitution guaranteed the representative from the Radio Workshop, Mr. Mann, was to be disregarded. The Council, she said, had appointed two new members and we had no means of protest.

"Feeling that the new Radio Committee was unconstitutional and generally not competent, and that we could not co-operate with it, Mr. Mann and myself tendered our resignations.

"The complete executive of the Radio Workshop, after hearing the report on the nature of the new Radio Committee from the representative, decided to resign in protest in order to bring the matter to the attention of the SEC.

"Late Sunday night Ross Simms and myself, in a discussion with Colin McCallum, were told that the SEC would consider our objections that these resignations were not necessary, and that the SEC would consider the matter at the meeting Wednesday. He assured us that we could register disapproval of the two new members as the constitution stated, if we wished.

In view of these facts Ross Simms and myself withdrew our resignations. The other members of the Radio Workshop executive were not present at the talk with Colin McCallum and could not be reached.

Frequent scheduled and unscheduled meetings of parties involved in the controversy throughout the week-end made it impossible for The Daily to fully evaluate the situation. Statements were being issued right up to deadline.

successive five-yard losses, and an attempt coffin corner kick failed. McGill took over on its own 15. Robinson cracked thru the Blues for two first downs on 15 yard runs, and Valois added another on two runs for a total of 12 yards.

This put the ball on the Varsity 48 and Wagner got off on his long run for the touchdown. Robillard converted. McGill 16, Varsity 12.

Brown kicked a single for Varsity's last point. McGill took over and Robinson galloped 60 yards. Robinson and Rodgers carried it to the Varsity three. Shorty Fairhead carried for the touch, Robillard converted and that ended the scoring. McGill 22, Varsity 13.

A snap over Brown's head gave McGill the ball on the Varsity five late in the game. But the Redmen failed to gain the major as the Varsity line came through in a last all-out effort.
